I greet you!

The most usual greeting in Spanish are the ones we have seen in the video, and those that you can see in the table below. But when you greet someone in the real life, you make something more than just saying things, don't you? In many parts of Latinamerica it's normal to greet someone with a handshake, among men, or with a kiss among women and men, or among women. But, if you visit Spain, you'll have to get used to give two kisses, one in each cheek!
